

Seniors Will Enter Many Fields Of Activity After Graduation

Thirty-three To Take Further Course of Study, 12 Choosing Harvard

MANY UNDECIDED

Law and Medicine Prove Most Popular Professions

Once more, with the approach of June, and incidentally, of graduation, the immediate necessity of deciding just what he will do with his college education is thrust upon the already overburdened mind of the college senior. Judging from a census taken by Hamilton Life, it would seem that the 1927 graduating class also finds this a difficult problem to solve, as 10 of the class have as yet no idea whatever as to what they will do after June.

However, a great many of the 1927 class appear to have still unquenched thirst for knowledge, as 33 have signified their intention of taking further scholastic work, and of these, 12 have chosen Harvard as their base of learning. Law seems to be the greatest attraction, with a total of 11 looking forward to this as their life's occupation, while medicine is a close second with 9. The ministry, which in days gone by used to attract so many Hamilton men, is now the goal of only one member of the 1927 class.

Of those who deem four years of college sufficient and who expect to plunge into the world directly upon their graduation, 15 will take up business and 14 teaching. The remaining members of the senior class seem to have looked far and wide for an outlet to their desire for excitement and originality. One expects to go into the oil business in Texas, another will become a prospector in Nevada, and a third will take up aviation.

A list of seniors and their intentions follows:

Gregsten Allen, undecided; John B. Allen, undecided; Robert J. Amos, Harvard School of Business; Warren B. Andrews, landscape gardening; Ian J. Bald, teaching; Burton C. Bel-den, graduate work in chemistry at Cornell; Hamilton H. Bookhout, teaching; George T. Bowers, Harvard Law School; Eben C. Brink, Princeton Seminary; Sidney A. Britten, Syracuse University Medical College; Arthur W. Browne, chemistry at Yale; William N. Burgess, teaching; Vincent T. Burns, undecided; Wiley J. Capron, Harvard School of Law; Doane C. Comstock, Harvard School of Law; Clifford M. Crist, instructor of French at Hamilton; Lindsley H. Crocker, journalism or teaching; (Continued on page 4)

CORNELL TENNIS TEAM WHITEWASHES HAMILTON

In a meet featured by a long doubles match lasting three hours, the Cornell tennis team whitewashed the Buff and Blue last Saturday afternoon at Ithaca by the score of 9-0. The victory was clean cut as Hamilton was able to win only three sets out of 21.

Reed and Ballard, a veteran doubles combination, gave Hamilton's best exhibition of tennis for the afternoon. Playing against Hene and Leven of Cornell, they had little trouble running through the first set by the score of 6-3. The next set found both teams making a determined effort, but the greater steadiness of the Cornell pair prevailed and the tables were turned by the score of 7-5. In the last set the Buff and Blue players had set point several times but were nosed out after 22 games, many of which went to deuce.

In the singles matches Davenport and McGregor were the only Hamilton players to win sets from their opponents. The former taking advantage of his fast, high-bounding service and his deep cross court drives, rushed to the net at every opportunity. He started off well, winning the first set 6-3. Then the greater steadiness of his opponent began to tell and he was forced to drop the next two sets. After getting off to a poor start, McGregor ran through his second set by the score of 6-4 and seemed well on the way to victory when Hene, playing No. 5 for Cornell, spurted and won at 7-5.

Although the Hamilton team was decisively beaten, there was a decided improvement in form over their first match of the season with Colgate the day before, and with two matches of experience behind them they ought to give a good account of themselves in the remaining meets.

REDMOND TO CAPTAIN FENCERS NEXT YEAR

Has Made Good Record in Sabres During Past Season

At a meeting of the fencing team held last Monday evening at the home of Mr. Prettyman, John C. Redmond, '28, was elected to captain next year's swordsmen. Redmond has made a fine showing this year, winning most of the sabre matches in which he has taken part.

At the meet at West Point Redmond did the best work of his season, taking second place in a competition in which most of the Eastern colleges were represented. His work, throughout the year, has, however, been uniformly good, and he has been one of the most dependable men Coach Gelas has had on the squad.

Redmond took up fencing his freshman year, trying out first with the foils. Last year, however, he started work in the sabres. His work on the team last year showed considerable promise, although he was not among the first string sabre men. In the season which has just ended, Redmond developed a great deal. He is well qualified to captain next year's fencing team, and Coach Gelas is looking forward to a good season, despite the loss of his most dependable men due to graduation this June. Capt. Britten, Dayton, and Bookhout will not be back to duplicate the good work they did this year.

Redmond has been active in several branches of undergraduates activity here. This year he won his numerals in football, playing the position of tackle. He has also been active as electrician for the Charlatans and has demonstrated considerable ability in this line.

He graduated from the Townsend Harris High School in New York, where he made a remarkable record in swimming, winning several championships. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

DR. STRYKER DELIVERS ANNUAL CHAPEL ADDRESS

Last Sunday Ex-President M. Woolsey Stryker, '72, of Rome, delivered his annual sermon in the college Chapel. "Old Prex", with his eloquent type of delivery and splendid command of English, is welcomed back to the hill each year for his message to the undergraduates.

Dr. Stryker took his text from John 14: 6-11, and based his sermon on the words of Christ "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." He told how God dwelt in Jesus, who was the physical manifestation of the Father, and how great was the power of God.

"Father" is the term Christ taught us to hallow. To show the all-sufficing God, our Father was his errand on earth. His whole life was like the needle quivering to the North and pointing the way," said Dr. Stryker. He went on to state how Christ's errand was to enslave the eternal God. "All of God's attributes," he said, "like various prismatic tints, blend in the unity of life, with Jesus merged in every facet and off-shining of this luminous Being."

Dr. Stryker proceeded to show the power of God working through Christ and the strength of the Fatherhood. "Against the Fatherhood of God," he said, "nothing can avail; not the tooth of time, not the strife of tongues, not the wrath of man, not the

PSI U'S MEET IN CONVENTION OVER WEEK-END

Many Delegates and Alumni Attend Fraternity Gathering on the Hill

BANQUET IN UTICA

Dr. Ferry Gives Welcoming Address at Thursday Dinner

After a session of three days' duration, beginning last Thursday and ending Saturday, the 94th annual convention of the Psi Upsilon fraternity brought to a close its very successful meeting on the Hill with a dinner and outing at Shore Acres, Cazenovia.

At this convention the Psi played host to more than 50 delegates, representing the different chapters. There were also present many alumni and visiting undergraduates from other colleges and universities. With the exception of three undergraduates from the University of California, one from Toronto, one from the University of Washington, and several from the Middle West, the majority of the delegates were from Eastern institutions.

Following a business session on Thursday, a tea was given for the delegates by Mrs. Fancher. In the evening President Ferry officially welcomed the convention to Hamilton, stating in his short address that his experience in college affairs had long ago convinced him that fraternities play an important part in undergraduate life. He briefly outlined the advantages of the fraternity system and said that in the considerable field in which the college cannot act effectively, in regard to discipline and character building, the fraternity supplements the college administration.

Charles P. Spooner of New York replied to Dr. Ferry's welcome, saying that colleges like Hamilton are doing a valuable work in modern education by keeping alive the tradition of learning and culture as the true background for education. After dinner a smoker was given at which the program consisted of several acts of vaudeville.

Outside of the routine work of the sisted of a tea given for the convention, the activities of Friday con-tion by the Tau of Delta Kappa Epsilon, in the afternoon, and a banquet at Hotel Utica in the evening. Professor Paul A. Fancher, who acted as toastmaster, delivered a short but

Life and Hamiltonian Boards Elect Officers To Serve For Coming Year

Frederick W. Leigh, Jr., of Dayton, O., was elected editor-in-chief of Hamilton Life at the meeting of the Life board at the Delta Upsilon House last Monday evening. Seymour M. Pitcher of Watertown was chosen managing editor and Theodore S. Corwin of Orange, N. J., was elected to the position of assistant business manager.

The editorship of Life is based on a competition extending throughout the junior year. This year there were four competitors for the position and Leigh and Pitcher were judged to be highest in that competition by the retiring editor, Frederick S. Marquardt, and the board of assistant editors. Assistant Business Manager Julius A. Kueck was raised to the position of business manager, and Corwin, on the recommendation of Gilbert E. Ferris, retiring business manager, was unanimously chosen his successor.

The new editor of Life has been very active in extra-curricular affairs throughout his college course. He is a member of the Press Board and the 1928 Hamiltonian Board. This year he made his letter in basketball, playing in a forward berth. He is a member of the track squad, participating in the hurdles, dashes and the jumps. He has maintained an honor average in his studies. Leigh is a member of the Emerson Literary Society.

Pitcher has also played a considerable role in undergraduate activities. In the Latin play given last spring on the Hill and this past winter in New York, he played the difficult leading role in such capable fashion as to gain enthusiastic approval of eminent Latin scholars. He is a member of Press Board and the 1928 Hamiltonian Board and an honor student. His fraternity is Psi Upsilon.

COLLEGE CHOIR ENTERS WELSH PRIZE CONTEST

Sings Against Syracuse and Union at Eisteddfod Competition in Utica

LARGE AWARDS OFFERED

Rome Concert on Sunday Will End Spring Season

With the Welsh Eisteddfod contest on Friday evening, May 13, and a recital in Rome on Sunday, May 15, the series of out of town recitals for the Hamilton College Choir will be closed for the school year. In addition to these two concerts the choir is giving its customary concert for Commencement week on Sunday, June 19, in the Chapel.

The prize collegiate song contest of the national Eisteddfod that is to be held in Utica on Friday evening of this week promises to be a most entertaining and keenly contested affair. There are three college choirs entered, competing for a $1,000 prize, to be awarded in the order of merit to the organizations as $500, $300, and $200 prizes. The three schools competing are Syracuse, Union, and Hamilton. According to a statement of the committee in charge of the Eisteddfod to be held for two days in Utica, the college competition will be one of the most interesting events, both as to the competition and as to the quality of music that will be sung. The choirs are to be judged by a critic brought especially from England for that purpose. Each choir will sing "The Bellman," a musical description of the night of Shakespeare's death, to be followed by a song of its own choosing, and its Alma Mater. The tent that is to house the gatherings of the Eisteddfod will afford ample accommodations for the large audience expected. The three organizations will arrive in Utica about 6 o'clock the evening of the contest.

The Eisteddfod is drawing all manner of choral and solo talent from all over the country, as there are musical contests in which well-known choral organizations and soloists are to be entered. The gathering will be really a national affair.

The recital in Rome next Sunday is to be given in the First Presbyterian Church and is being arranged by Mrs. James H. Taylor, a former resident of Clinton. The members of the choir will go to Rome by automobile and will be served supper in the parish house by the ladies of the church.

Buff And Blue Nine Defeats R. P. I. by Tenth Inning Rally

P. G. CORBY CHOSEN Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENT

As a result of the annual elections of the Y. M. C. A. held last Saturday morning in chapel, Philip G. Corby, '28, was elected president of the "Y" for the coming year. Corby has long been interested in Y. M. C. A. work and has held various offices during the past. He also is serving this year as manager of track and cross country.

Corby will be assisted by Winston Tolles as vice-president. Tolles has also been interested in this line of activity for some time, and has, in addition, been on the debating squad. He is a substitute catcher on the baseball team.

Other officers elected Saturday were Allen R. Ostrander, '29, as treasurer, and John H. Niemeyer, '30, as secretary.

Engineers Held to 6 Runs Despite Numerous Errors on Part of Infield

KNOX TRIPLES TWICE

Three Singles and a Triple Score Two Winning Runs

Uncorking a strong batting rally in the opening half of the tenth frame the Buff and Blue baseball team came from behind to annex a 7-6 victory over the R. P. I. nine, in the game at Troy last Saturday afternoon. This marks Hamilton's second victory of the season.

The game was featured by loose playing by both teams, and the fine pitching of Walt Knox. His assortment of curves and puzzling change of pace saved the game more than once when poor support had put him in a hole. It took 10 innings, however, before Hamilton could finally cinch the game.

At the start, Hamilton played a brilliant game and for a while seemed to have a sure victory in sight. With Knox on the mound, the Engineers were helpless. Occasional errors permitted Rensselaer two unearned runs, but by the sixth inning the Buff and Blue held a 4-2 lead.

The Trojans tied the score in the sixth when errors by Hamilton at first and third followed by a scratch hit permitted R. P. I. to score two runs. In the seventh inning R. P. I. took the lead when Alquist singled to center, stole to second, was sacrificed to third and scored on McMann's single to deep left. The next batter, Holbrook, hit into a double play which retired his side before further damage could be done.

Hamilton attempted to stage a comeback in its turn at bat when Knox reached first on a scratch hit to short right, and took second on McLean's sacrifice. Warren and Chubb killed the rally by hitting weakly to the infield. McLean was spiked in the right thumb in the second half of the eighth trying to catch Badgely, who was sliding into second base.

Hamilton staged another rally in the ninth inning. Worboys singled to left, advanced to second when Liberty fumbled Hassard's last strike, and came home on King's neat triple to left. Pierce then fanned, leaving the score a tie 5-5. R. P. I., in its turn at bat, could not advance Wainright, who had reached second and so the game was stretched another inning.

The tenth frame saw Hamilton set out on a hitting bee. Knox began the

COLGATE RACQUETEERS DOWN HAMILTON

The Hamilton tennis team lost its first match of the season last Friday, when it was downed by the Colgate racquet squad on its own court, 5-1, in the first of a home and home series with the Maroon. With Warren and Reed, two of Hamilton's best netmen, off the courts, the Buff and Blue racqueteers showed up to poor advantage.

Davenport and McGregor defeated Harris and Sweet of Colgate in the doubles to give Hamilton its only point of the day. The victors made a clean sweep of the singles and won the other doubles match, although the Hill courtmen carried three of their four singles matches to three sets apiece.

Hope ran high among the Buff and Blue supporters at the start, with McGregor winning his first set. The Hamilton style of fast, erratic playing proved no match for the most consistent racquet work of the Colgate courtmen, however, and the four singles matches were dropped one after another. Warfield and Sweet furnished the fastest and most exciting match of the day, in which the latter won, 6-1, 7-9, 6-4.

Hamilton split even in the doubles matches, Fitzgerald and Reed losing to Storey and Geer, and Davenport and McGregor scoring a spectacular 6-0, 6-3 victory over Harris and Sweet. A return match is scheduled with Colgate on May 11 at Colgate.

Summary:
Singles: Harris C beat McGregor H 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. Storey C beat Davenport H 9-7, 6-2. Geer C beat Ballard H 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Sweet C beat Warfield H 6-1, 7-9, 6-4.

Doubles: Davenport and McGregor H beat Harris and Sweet C 6-0, 6-3. Storey and Geer C beat Fitzgerald and Reed H 6-2, 6-2.

TRACK TEAM LOSES FIRST MEET TO R. P. I.

Brockway, Cutter and Jacobsen Account for 26 Points

Hamilton's track team lost its initial contest of the season to R. P. I. last Saturday by the overwhelming score of 94 3-4 to 31 1-4. R. P. I., fresh from a victory over Middlebury, came here with an exceptionally well balanced team.

The Buff and Blue scoring was mostly limited to the work of three individual stars: Captain Brockway, Cutter, and Jacobsen. These three men accounted for 26 of the team's 31 points. Hamilton's big weakness lay in the distance runs as R. P. I. took nearly all places in these events. The summary:

Track

100 yard dash: Won by Jacobsen, H., second, Malley, R. P. I., third, Bishop, R. P. I. Time 10:2 sec.

220 yard dash: Won by Malley, R. P. I., second, Jacobsen, H., third, Bishop, R. P. I. Time 22:7 sec.

440 yard dash: Won by Loose, R. P. I., second, Mendelbaum, R. P. I., third, Baker, H.

880 yard dash: Won by Leiberum, R. P. I., second, Maloney, R. P. I., third, Almer, H. Time 2 min. 7 sec.

1 mile run: Won by Smith, R. P. I., second, Owens, R. P. I., third, Brown, R. P. I. Time, 4 min. 43 3-10 sec.

Two mile run: Won by Thompson, R. P. I., second, Owens, R. P. I., third, Chulee, R. P. I. Time, 10 min. 42 sec.

120 high hurdles: Won by Cutter, H., second, Weinman, R. P. I., third, Ludlow, R. P. I. Time, 16:4 sec.

220 low hurdles: Won by Cutter, H., second, Titter, R. P. I., third, Dale R. P. I. Time 25:8 sec.

Broad jump: Won by Robbins, R. P. I., second, Mroczk, R. P. I., third Jacobsen, H. Distance 21 ft. 6 1/2 in.

High jump: Won by Robbins, R. P. I., second, Beach, Hamilton, third, Fioretti, R. P. I. Height, 5 ft. 6 in. (Continued on page 4)

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED FOR PRIZE ORATIONS

Announcement was recently made in Chapel of the winners in the Clark and Head Prize oration contests, the Kirkland and Pruyn competitions having no award and no competition respectively; and the names of those who will compete in the first stabs of the McKinney Prize Speaking contest were posted in the vestibule of Chapel.

WHAT POLICY?

Recalling the statement of policy of our predecessor no more than a year ago, we feel that our sentiments could best be summed up by the following quotation from Samuel Hopkins Adams' "Revelry": "There came, too, the Vice-president, so soon to be President, who looked inscrutably at the dying man out of his fishy eyes and assured him that the Markham policies would be faithfully adhered to. Vice-President Elliott did not know what the Markham policies were. Nor did Markham. Nor anyone else."

Despite the usually evanescent influence, if any, exerted by college newspaper editorials, we, nevertheless, are inclined to believe that many of the changes which are generally conceded to have taken place throughout the college during the past year, are owing greatly to the views that have been advanced in the editorial columns by our predecessor.

Since Hamilton is dominated by an influence bordering on ultra-conservatism, we feel that Life should assume a more progressive attitude, as a possible antidote to the tendency toward complacency. Because of the multifarious problems of undergraduate life, the degree of radicalism may vary each week. On two questions, however, that have already been discussed to some extent, we do take a definite stand. We favor, first of all, an adaptation of the Oxford system to Hamilton, and, secondly, the adoption of some plan for the extension of intra-murals.

Considering the inexperience of the staff in newspaper writing, we feel that (technically) there can be little improvement in Life. We do believe, however, that by increasing the number of features, it might be possible, though highly improbable, to stimulate a little more interest in the publication.

The Supplement, we are inclined to feel, has proved itself worthy of continuance, since it has provided a medium for the expression of undergraduate literary effort. For this reason we hope to continue it as a regular part of Life.

HAMILTONIAN COMPETITION

Some time within the next few days the editor and the assistant editors of the 1929 Hamiltonian will be elected from the group of sophomores who have been competing for the positions during the past year. The only basis for the selection of the men to fill these positions will be the lengthy examination given recently.

This condition, which is really the fault of no one in particular, since it has existed ever since the time when it became the custom for the succeeding board to elect the succeeding editors, is obviously bad. In no other competition, either for publications or managements, is such a haphazard method of selection employed. As important a publication as the Hamiltonian certainly merits more consideration than it receives under the present method.

The competition is above all extremely unfair to the competitors. First of all it places a high premium on experience gained in prep or high schools and, because of an almost entire lack of competitive work, does not give a man of possible ability, but slight experience, any opportunity to improve his status.

Secondly, since there is no basis for selection other than the examination, the system is unfair to those competitors who have no men in their crowds to inform them of the type of question that will be asked.

Finally, in case of almost equally brilliant treatments of the examination by two or more men, the board will have no other means of choosing between the contestants, with the result that the election will probably be influenced by personal opinion.

Many of the competitors in the last two years have expressed their feeling of the unfairness of the competition. Unless some change is made, an insufficiency of aspirants for the positions may result. We sincerely hope that the new editors will do all within their power to remedy the situation.

FIRST ROUND OF GOLF TOURNAMENT NEARLY OVER

With the first round of the interfraternity golf tournament practically played off, theories are already being advanced as to the probable winner of the Delta Upsilon trophy. At present all the fraternities have played their first matches except Theta Delta Chi and the Emerson Literary Society.

Most of the games were played Tuesday and late Wednesday. Beginning the list, the Psi U players, DeSarno, Calkins, and Wardwell, took the Chi Psi's into camp. In the Neutral-Chi Beta Sigma match, the Neutrals triumphed, while, after a close struggle, the D. U. representatives were conquered by Delta Kappa Epsilon. Lambda Chi Alpha, slated to play the Alpha Deltas, was put aside by the strong combination of Hand, Ingalls, and Beardsley. In the last contest staged so far the Sigs with strong representatives in Mead, Moffly, and Chapin swamped the Lambda Xi Sigmas by as much as nineteen up.

The first round of play was supposed to have been finished by May 4. Each fraternity is represented by a three man team and the total points of match play decide the winner. This plan of interfraternity sports, which was so prominent early in the spring in the competitions for the Delta Kappa Epsilon basketball trophy, has tended to stimulate general interest in athletics as well as a spirit of friendly rivalry among the various crowds.

FACULTY MEMBERS PLAN FOR COMING VACATION

As Commencement time draws near, many of the professors on the Hill are making plans for the summer. Although some will be away from the Hill during the greater part of the time, and some have not, as yet, made any definite plans, a majority seem to prefer spending the summer here on the Hill.

Professor Bonham has planned an extensive trip. He intends to spend the early part of the vacation teaching at the summer session of the North Carolina College for Women. At the end of that time he will go to South Carolina to visit friends. From there he will travel west to attend the meeting of the alumni of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity near Denver, Col.

Professor Wisewell will again go abroad. Although he intends to be in France, he has made no definite plans.

Professor and Mrs. Fancher will sail July 16 on the Paris to spend the vacation in Europe. They will go directly to Munich for the opera. From there they will visit Bayreuth to attend the Wagner Festival. The rest of the time they will be in Italy, sailing from there during the first week of September.

Professor Wood has made no definite plans but will probably be at the Lake Placid Club some of the time.

Professor Dale will again be doing geological work in St. Lawrence County on the St. Lawrence River with the New York State County Survey.

THE FORUM

To the Editor of Hamilton Life:

In regard to the letter published a fortnight ago concerning Mr. Burton, I wish to withdraw all of the personal statements which were expressed in said letter, and to offer an apology for all remarks in bad taste.

Yours truly,
 ROBERT WARNER.

Frederick H. Gouge, '70, probably the leading architect of Central New York, died Sunday, March 6 at his home in Utica. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Upsilon fraternities. In Mr. Gouge Hamilton College has lost the artist and architect who made the harmony of buildings on the campus so pronounced and who is largely responsible for the appearance of the college as one sees it today.

During the presidency of Dr. Stryker, Mr. Gouge co-operated with the donors of the buildings and designed the Benedict Hall of Languages, the Truax Hall of Philosophy, the Sigma Phi House, the Hall of Commons, Furthermore, he remodelled Knox Carnegie Hall, and South College Hall, Soper Gymnasium, and the Alpha Delta Phi House.

Besides this, Mr. Gouge has planned scores of other buildings and monuments throughout this part of the state, including many of the business buildings in Utica.

Word has been received on the Hill of the deaths of Dr. Glenworth Reeve Butler, '77, and Ralph Emerson Lake, '02. Dr. Butler, who died Dec. 6, 1926, was a resident of Brooklyn and Mr. Lake was of Binghamton.

Word was received recently of the appointment of Frederick J. DeLa Fleur, Jr., to the position of principal of the high school at East Pembroke, for the coming school year. Mr. De LaFleur is at present teaching at the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima.

Frederic G. Yeandle, '19, is reported as having spent last summer in France, studying the idioms of the language of the French peasants. He traveled on bicycle, stopping only at inns and private dwellings in small French villages.

W. Stuart Holden, '17, is now with the International Boiler Company of Springfield, Mass.

William G. Cline, '24, was recently married to Miss Esther Smith at Endicott.

Leo S. Mulford, '22, was recently married to Miss Alice Cecelia Creagh at Binghamton.

Harry C. Bates, '12, has been appointed Assistant General Counsel of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

LOVE NEST BARED!
"Der Liebe Haus, das Beste Haus"

Our new little Carpy, which is really going to be a great scandal-monger, was in high glee the other day when he discovered a most compromising fact concerning no less respectable an establishment than that dear old Shrine of Bachelorhood—the Faculty Club. The curious are referred for full particulars to Mr. F. W. Bachmann's German 1 or 2 scholars (?). Those possessing a knowledge of that language really ought to look at the inscription above the main portal of this den of "iniquity."

And somebody has the nerve to hand this in for our first issue:

Soon our big fanati-Cal
Gets his bat sabbatical,
No doubt he's feeling quite elated—
The pleasure is reciprocated.

Isn't that really horrid?

IN MEMORIAM A. E. F.

A member of the Psi U fraternity tells us that Mr. Adelbert Edson ("Sunny") Fradenburgh, '27 (?), seems to have tentatively accepted a position as Ass. Prof. of Geology at St. Lawrence. Dr. N. S. Dale asserts, however, that he has no intelligence on this matter.

UTICA HIGHLIGHTS

The beer you used to get in cans
Can best be got at M. I. L. g.

News of Herr Bachmann's departure forces Carpe writers to register deep melancholy. Even our pet Fuzzy-Wuzzy is a'leavin' us! What is this college coming to. Cheer up, college, don't you pine. We've still got the old standbys, Gigi and Hambone.

Speaking of pretzels, reminds us of the above mentioned gentleman who made Baton Rouge famous, how he invited all his classes over to Our-Rival-At-Rome for a social call. Our only comment is, Too late, Colonel, too late.

HAMILTON INSTRUCTOR PREACHES RADICALISM—CHRETIEN ADVOCATES NUDITY

Conservative Hamilton was in an uproar last week when remarks of Instructor Charles Douglas Chretien became known through the Hill College.

This dangerous radical in lecturing to a class of innocent (?) freshmen, is quoted as having said, "I object to pants." Inasmuch as he offered no substitute, the college (with houseparty in the offing) is, to say the least—disturbed.

Dear Carpe:

I wonder if there's any connection between the Choir trip to Rochester and the fact that there is a lack of students signing up for German in the University. Huh?

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

It is with a degree of pleasure approaching—as it sometimes does—pain, that we announce to the waiting world the formation of a chapter on our cloistered campus of the Society of Atheists. All candidates for admission should present credentials to President E. C. Brink, Kysy Loj.

P.S. The first secret meeting of the Society will be held in the Y. M. C. A. poolroom—pardon, billiard parlor—immediately after Sunday chapel.

Everything's

THAT'S the way P. A. talks to you in the bowl of a pipe. This great national gloom-chaser stabs the darkest clouds with a ray of sunshine. Buy a tidy red tin of Prince Albert today and see. Tamp a load of this friendly tobacco into your jimmy-pipe and light up.

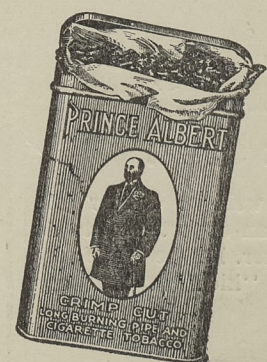

Cool as a sub-cellar. Sweet as the breath of fresh-cut violets. Fragrant in the tin and fragrant as you smoke it. Never a tongue-bite or a throat-parch. So mild you can hit it up from sun-up to sun-down, yet with a body that satisfies completely.

There's more philosophy in a pipe-load of P. A. than in the average Doctor's thesis. No matter what brand you are smoking now, you don't know how much your jimmy-pipe can mean to you until you pack it with good old Prince Albert. Get started now.

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

attack auspiciously with a triple, his second of the day, over first base and scored on McLean's single through short. McLean was sent to second by Warren's sacrifice but his attempt to reach home on Church's single failed and he was put out. Chatfield drew a pass and Worboys came through with the needed hit, scoring Church. R. P. I. managed to tally once in their half on an error by McLean, after Alquist reached second on a hit and a steal. Knox retired the side in order.

Camel is the modern favorite

MODERN smokers make known their preference. And they call for Camels. Never in any age was there a smoking favorite like Camel is today. Camels understand every mood of the modern smoker. Camel mildness and smoothness are supreme with the critical taste of present-day people.

A purchase of Camels brings you the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos. Blended by skill into the world's most popular smoke, and the best. Quality unapproached, is the distinguishing mark of Camel.

No matter what the price, there is no better cigarette than Camels. Smoke them as frequently as you please. You will never be left with a cigarette after-taste. Camels aren't made that way. That is why modern smokers everywhere demand them. That is why this age has discovered the tobacco phrase, "Have a Camel!"

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.
